Correspondence of the Chicago Journal.

The Reason of Mr. Cameron's Resignation and Some Other Things.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14, 1862.

The topic of the moment is the resignation of Secretary Cameron, and the appointment of Hon. B. M. Stanton to the war department. The event is explained, by those who pretend to know, in this wise: Mr. Cameron, by his ultra views in reference to emancipating and arming slaves, rendered himself obnoxious to the southern Unionists, who declare that the adoption of such a measure would knock out the only remaining plank upon which the loyal men of the government—that a measure for general emancipation, and the arming of slaves, would drive every Union man south of Mason and Dixon's line into implacable enmity to the government. His removal was demanded by loyal Missourians, Kentuckians, Virginians and Marylanders, and by a natural understanding between him and the President, it was agreed that he should vacate the position and take the Russian mission—one of the most important of the foreign appointments. This is the talk in circles that ought to be posted, and inasmuch as the border slave state men hail the appointment of Mr. Stanton with great satisfaction, he being a conservative as well as a purely patriotic man, and a man of great energy of character and statesmanlike abilities, there is probably something in it.

Mr. Cameron, it is also said, has the more recently acquired in this military as well as political necessity, on account of the alleged fact that Gen. Fremont, in his defense before the Congressional Committee, has convicted him and Adjutant General Thomas of gross injustice towards him, the public revolution of which will make a residence in England more comfortable for him than the War Office at Washington would be. The same authority upon which this statement is made, also declares that Adjutant General Thomas will soon have to follow Mr. Cameron's example, by resigning an office from which he would be ousted by the President.

The opinion among Congressmen and others is, that Fremont will come out of his ordeal into which he has been outrageously forced by malicious enemies and ambitious politicians, with triumph and clean skirts, and that his persecutors will have to pay the penalty of their own dishonesty. Fremont's expedition has not failed, and whether, none of us outsiders know. Much is expected of it, and from other sources through it.

The same elements that were at work to displace and disgrace Fremont, are now hatching schemes of villany and mischief against McClellan. It is a dastardly conspiracy, in which politicians who have hobbies of their own to ride into success, and certain military men who are controlled by a dishonest ambition, are the chief actors. They will be defeated in their scheme. Politicians and corruptors will have as heavy an account to settle with the people after this war is over, as will the rebels and traitors of the south. Let the editors of the Chicago Tribune "make a note on it."

Departure of the Pensacola.

On Saturday morning, about 8 o'clock, the Pensacola left her moorings off Alexandria, having taken on board the last of her armament during Friday night, and steamed quietly down to Potomac Creek, where she again dropped anchor, and commenced stripping her masts and rigging of every loose piece of sail, rope and block.

A brig loaded with pressed hay, which was well soaked in water, and then wrapped up in canvas, making an impenetrable bulwark to keep between the Virginia shore and the Pensacola, was tightly steamed up to her, and next her engine. The steam tug, Perry, and the tug, and the tug, then ran along side of her on the Maryland side, and at thirty minutes past 12 o'clock, Saturday night, she again started quietly down the Potomac.

The Mount Washington kept close to her rear, and when she reached the upper Potomac, they all joined her and ran down to the first batteries at Cockpit Point. Here all left her except three tugs, and she put on a full head of steam. At sixteen minutes before five she was opened upon by the Cockpit battery. Two shells were fired, both of which passed over, and were from heavy guns.

The Pensacola did not return the fire. An old engineer, who has run up and down the Potomac for years, and at four o'clock and night, says there could have been no more favorable time to pass them. A heavy fog hung over the Virginia shore, but on the Maryland side was clear. Landmarks could, however, be seen on both sides by a vessel, but on the Virginia shore they could not see distinctly enough to tell that it was the Pensacola, as she was mostly concealed by the fog of day.

As she reached the lower battery, however, they opened again with shells, and fired seventeen with great rapidity, but the Pensacola kept on at the rate of fifteen miles an hour, passing them all safely. All the gun-boats then returned to their position at upper Potomac, and the Mount Washington returned to the Navy Yard, with the news of her successful passage.

The gunboat Baltimore went down only this morning, with despatches to Budd's Ferry, and returned again to-night with despatches from the lower flotilla, and reports that the Pensacola passed Sandy Point at 10 A. M. After she had passed Budd's Ferry, five more shots were fired at her, making twenty-four in all.

All went wide of the mark, and it was evident that the rebels did not know the position or range of her, else they were miserable marksmen. Capt. Morris did not reply, because he thought there was no occasion for it, and his firing would only show them his position.

The Captain thinks they did not know that it was the Pensacola till he had gone some distance. After the first shot was fired, the rapidity of the shots and the heavier charge to the guns, evinced their knowledge that it was the Pensacola.

Another British precedent for closing a harbor with stone is given in Scott's Life of Napoleon. "England," he says, "was induced to have recourse to stone, and as it proved, ineffectual means of carrying on hostilities. Such was the attempt at destroying the harbor of Boulogne by sinking in the roads ships loaded with stones."

England could block up an enemy's harbor, and it was only a "strange" act; the same England denounces the blockade of a hostile port on its own soil by the United States as "a crime against the human race."

The Departure.

The 13th regiment left this forenoon at 10 o'clock for Leavenworth. Its departure was witnessed by the largest assemblage of people ever convened in the city. Many of the friends and relatives of the soldiers must have taken an early start, as we hear of them from the vicinity of Whitewater and remote parts of this country. Colonel Barstow's regiment turned out as an escort, and by their fine appearance and large numbers added greatly to the interest of the occasion. Gov. Randall, Quartermaster General Treadway and Col. Allen of the 16th regiment, came down in the morning Madison train.

The men in the regiment were generally in good spirits, though there were some solemn faces among them, and many tearful eyes among the throng at the depot.

For several reasons, to-day will long be remembered by the people of Janesville and Rock county.

THE COST OF THE REGIMENT.—We have the authority of Quartermaster Treadway for saying that the 13th regiment has been subsidized and prepared for service at probably two-thirds the cost of any other regiment in the state. This is really gratifying and speaks volumes for the manner in which the affairs of the regiment have been managed. The efforts of the Quartermaster have been ably seconded by the officers of the regiment, so much so, indeed, as to relieve him of much labor bestowed upon other camps. Gen. Treadway was in favor of sending the 16th regiment here, but other influences prevailed and defeated him. The universal testimony as to Gen. T. is that of an industrious and honest officer.

COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—This body adjourned yesterday until Monday, after recommending the relief law to the revising committee.

Received 3 pairs of socks for needy soldiers from Mrs. Joanna A. Iris of this city. Mrs. Iris is 82 years of age and knit the socks with her own hands, thus showing her care for the cause. God bless the aged mother!

We have more than 300 volumes for a circulating library for the 13th. Also a Chapel tent 25 by 40—thanks to our numerous friends for aid in these movements. Also to Rev. Mr. Bardwell, agent for the American Bible Society for 400 testaments for our soldiers.

H. C. TILTON, Chaplain.

ROSE TIEING.—Prof. Anderson, the magician, has performed in Milwaukee the feat of the Davenport boys—the tying and untying performance in a dark closet. The Sentinel says:—"We were witnesses of both, and we have no hesitation in saying that the feat of Prof. A. was altogether more inexplicable, while it was fairer and less liable to collusion than the same when executed by the so-called spirits. And Prof. Anderson does not claim superhuman aid. We make this announcement for the benefit of our spiritual friends, and for the benefit of science."

Gen. Tom Thumb arrived this afternoon, and had an enthusiastic escort as he rode through the street in his miniature carriage. He holds a "Jenny" at Lappin's Hall this evening, and Monday afternoon and evening.

Hurd & Riley's theatrical company have returned to Milwaukee.

John H. Schenck, one of the proprietors of the St. Louis Presbyterian, has been arrested on a charge of having been serving in the rebel army.

THE WISCONSIN 12th REGIMENT BURN AN EXTER VILLAGE.—This regiment burned Douglas, a village of four or five houses on the Illinois side of the river opposite Hannibal, at a late hour on Monday night, and as we predicted, were unable to cross the river until yesterday, and as the ferry was suspended here by the ice, it is not probable that the same difficulty existed at Hannibal. The troops found themselves at Douglas after a tedious march of 22 miles, on an ice covered road, without shelter, on the means of making themselves comfortable, the consequence of which was, as we are informed, the appropriation of the few houses there, including a warehouse, to the flames. The soldiers contended that it was better to sacrifice a few houses than to subject themselves to torture and death for want of fuel. We would that they could be advised of the authority that compelled them to the cruel and unnecessary endurance of that long march and dreary night's exposure, that their just indignation might be properly applied.—Quincy Herald, Jan. 11.

REBELS AT MONTREAL.—There are sixty-seven rebel families at the Donnacona Hotel, Montreal, and on the receipt of the first news from England concerning the seizure of Mason and Slidell, so joyful were they that a supper was given by them at the house, costing $1,500.

The Whigs say that Vicksburg is turning out from eight to ten brass cannon per week. Some of them are rifled.

ALL SORTS OF PARAGRAPHS.

GEN. DENVER TRANSFERRED.—An order has been issued from the war department transferring Gen. Denver from Kansas to Western Virginia.

THE QUESTION SETTLED.—The Halifax, N. S., debating club have decided, after a three nights' debate, that the south had a right to secede from the Union.

THE ENGLISH FORCE IN CANADA.—Eight thousand five hundred men, and two batteries, have thus far been ordered to Canada. Secretary Cameron has transformed twenty-five cavalry regiments into infantry. He has mustered several officers out of the service who have charged expenses for recruiting quarters while using bar rooms and corner groceries.

Mr. Russell, the correspondent of the London Times, it is said, will return to England early in February. He complains of ill health, and of bad treatment at the hands of some of our people, who insist upon visiting upon him the indignation they feel at the recent editorial articles in the Thunderer abusive of the United States.

RETURNED.—Capt. John F. Randolph, of the Randall Guards, in the Second Regiment, returned to Madison on Saturday evening last. He is in excellent spirits, and comes home to recruit for the Second Wisconsin Regiment.

BURN'S ARMY.—It is reliably stated that Buell's force, in Kentucky, consists of about 100,000 infantry, 11,000 cavalry, and 3,000 artillerymen, with over 100 guns.

SIR ALLEN McNAB.—A London paper states that Sir Allen McNab, on his return to Canada, is to be entrusted with the charge of organizing the Provincial militia. While in England, he had an interview with the Queen and Lord Palmerston. Dickens' All the Year Round is one of the most strenuous advocates of the slaveholder's conspiracy, in England. Mr. Dickens argues with great zeal that the controversy is all about the tariff.

Mr. Beecher, (Rev. Henry Ward) it is said, does not find editing a newspaper the nice, easy job he thought it was, and so, in order to have some respite from the arduous labors imposed upon him by "getting out" the Independent every week, he has concluded to turn over the Sunday morning service, at Plymouth church, to the Rev. Mr. Hatfield. Hereafter Mr. B. will only preach in the evenings.

A BEGINNING.—The Detroit Free Press states that two 10 pounders have arrived in that city for the commencement of the fortification of Fort Wayne.

THE HUTCHINSONS AMONG THE CAMPS.—The Hutchinsons got a pass the other day to cross the Potomac and visit the camps with the truly patriotic object of singing for a whole month to the soldiers in camp.

According to Paris papers the separate action of the Spanish expedition in taking Vera Cruz is in violation of the understanding with France and England, and is likely to make an entire change in the program. The Montreal Advertiser says the real object of the British part of the expedition is to take possession of Matamoros, in order to ship thence the cotton to be received through Texas.

MR. SLOAN, Patten & Bailey's Law Office has been removed to Jackson & Smith's new block. 21wl-33d

COPERS.—The great and sudden changes of our climate are fruitful sources of Pulmonary and Bronchitis. Experience having proved that Allen's Remedies cure not only colds but also pneumonia, whooping cough, and all the coughs and irritations of the throat, we should at once let the cough or irritation of the throat be cured, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be actually averted.
